

Plymouth Writing Project

English Department, MSC #40 Plymouth State University, Plymouth, NH 03264

April 10, 2008

Dear teacher,

The Plymouth Writing Project at Plymouth State University is once again offering week-long summer writing camps for young writers. These camps are for all types of writers, children who love to write, children who are reluctant to write and children who want to explore the idea of writing and being a writer.

Enclosed is a brochure for the summer writing camps that are being offered to students leaving grades 3-8 who identify themselves as writers, and wish to share this enjoyment with others. There are 15 spots available in each camp. This camp is located on the Plymouth University campus.

We ask that you please distribute this pamphlet to students you feel might be interested in participating. It is our hope that these selected students will return to your school, and share their enthusiasm of writing with their peers. We greatly appreciate your support of the enrichment of writing.

Sincerely,

Kari Allen
Jennifer Laroche

Writing Project Camp Coordinators
(Plymouth Site)

Please visit the Plymouth Writing Project Website for more information: www.plymouth.edu/pwp or contact Kari Allen at kari@santbani.org

Plymouth Writing Project is New Hampshire's Site of the National Writing Project
Visit our Website: www.plymouthwritingproject.org

