The
New England Band Directors Institute
At
Plymouth State University
Dear Friends and Colleagues,

I am happy to bring you information regarding the 2017 New England Band Directors Institute at Plymouth State University, July 13-15. Each year we try to provide you with an exciting line-up of clinics and sessions that will stimulate your musical thinking and encourage you to try new techniques in your teaching, but you may notice a few small changes this year! Beginning this summer, you can register for NEBDI either by mail or online.

NEBDI 2017 will have some excellent clinicians as always, and at our Friday night banquet dinner and awards ceremony we will also be awarding the “Outstanding Band Director” and “Outstanding Young Band Director” awards. More information about sessions can be found on the NEBDI website at the address above!

Registration for this great three day institute is only $75 (checks payable to NHBDA), with the option of taking up to 3 graduate credits. There are two courses available:

- ME 5120.01  New England Band Directors Institute  1 credit
- ME 5560.01  Contemporary Issues in Music Education  2 credits

Both online and paper graduate course registration are available here: https://www.plymouth.edu/prospective/graduate/graduate/course-registration/

This year we have a full time enrolled student registration rate of $25. Available to undergraduate and graduate students.

Information on cost and how to register for these courses is available on the NEBDI website and I have added a graduate school summer registration form to this mailing. Also on the website, you can find links to places to stay, both on and off campus, as well as local restaurants and directions to campus.

The Executive Board of the New Hampshire Band Directors Association and I are looking forward to seeing you in Plymouth this July. Bring your instruments and join us for three incredible days of music in the mountains!

Enrollment is limited! I am looking forward to seeing you this summer in Plymouth. Please don’t hesitate to call me (603) 535-2495, or email me at mastickney@plymouth.edu, if you have any questions.
